

RUSSIA WINS
LAND BATTLEKuropatkin Caught the Japs in a Trap, and
When Unprepared for Fighting.

HAD SECRET INFORMATION OF PLAN

Japs' Army Was Completely Routed by the Russian Forces--Fighting Waged Fiercely for Several Hours.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]

New Chwang, July 4.—A great victory has been won by Gen. Kuropatkin or a division of his army, according to reports which have been brought here today by Chinese coming from the neighborhood of Hail Cheng.

This report does not give the exact location of the battle, but places it to the northeast of Hail Cheng, and it is thought to have taken place near Pa Hui Sia, on the road over which a strong Japanese army has been reported moving toward the railroad north of Hail Cheng.

It was reported that this force had been dispatched from Feng Wang Cheng of Kuroki over the Liao Yang road with the object of cutting off Kuropatkin's retreat to the north. It seems the Russians had been prepared for this movement and sent a strong detachment from Hail Cheng to intercept them.

The report of the engagement places the number of troops engaged on either side at over 10,000 men, and the Japanese were utterly routed, mainly because the Russians, having had a shorter distance to travel, were able to bring heavier artillery to bear and had the advantage of strong positions enfilading the advancing columns.

Rains Help Russians

London, July 4.—The latest reports from Manchuria indicate that military operations are greatly hampered by the rainy season, which has just begun and which renders the roads mere quagmires, making the transportation of heavy artillery a practical impossibility. The Russians claim this condition of affairs will result in great advantage to them, as it will enable Kuropatkin to strengthen his army without any fear of further Japanese advances, as it is expected that all operations will practically cease.

Russians in Ambush

A report has been circulated in St.

Petersburg to the effect that the Japanese have suffered a heavy reverse to the northeast of Hail Cheng.

A New Chwang report indicates that the engagement took place in the vicinity of Pa Hui Sia, but gives nothing definite as to the forces engaged, merely intimating that it was probably the Japanese force despatched by Kuroki to cut Kuropatkin's communications north of Hail Cheng and that the Russians had advance information of this movement and were lying in wait for the approaching column.

Skrydloff Back in Port

The elusive Vladivostok squadron has turned up at its home station again, despite the reported plans of Admiral Kamemura to block its return and it is rumored in St. Petersburg that another attempt is either under way or about to be made to bring the two Russian fleets into communication and make a joint move against Togo.

No news has come from Port Arthur, but St. Petersburg claims the fortress will undoubtedly be able to hold out for a long time against any force that may be launched against it. The Tokyo report of a contemplated surrender of the fort and ships is denied absolutely.

Rush Best Men to Manchuria

Mukden, July 4.—Reinforcements are reaching Kuropatkin at the rate of a full regiment a day. By the time the rainy season is over he will have more troops than the Japanese in Manchuria. The men now reaching here are the cream of the Russian army.

Japs Shelled by Warships

Tokio, July 4.—Russian warships made a sortie at Port Arthur today and shelled the Japanese land forces, inflicting some damage. Several torpedo boats were sunk. There has been heavy land fighting about Port Arthur and great loss has been inflicted on the Russians.

IS MOST APPALLING

CAPTAIN STICKS TO HIS POST

His Leg Is Jammed Between Stanchions and Badly Injured, But He Succeeds in Reaching a Lifeboat After a Long, Hard Swim.

London, July 5.—More than 600 lives were lost by the sinking of the Scandinavian-American liner Norge, which went to the bottom early last Wednesday morning after striking the treacherous Rockall reef in the North Atlantic, 200 miles off the west coast of Scotland.

Of 774 souls on board the Danish steamer Norge 128, including Capt. Gundel, are known to have been saved. One of the children died in a lifeboat which brought others to safety. For the missing 648 persons small hopes are entertained.

The enormous death toll which was feared at the first news of the wreck has been decreased by 102, that number of survivors, after many privations, having landed at Stornoway.

Search for Survivors

The horrors of the wreck itself grow with each survivor's account.

The majority of the twenty-six who were landed at Grimsby have arrived at Liverpool, from where they will sail on the Cunard line steamer Saxonia, which leaves to-morrow for Boston. Vessels are searching in the vicinity of Rockall for any more survivors. The chief hope lies in Capt. Gundel's statement that seven boat loads got safely away.

No more tragic story of the sea has ever been known than that of the sinking of the Norge.

Many Taken to Hospital

Stornoway, Scotland, July 5.—Thirty-two survivors of the Danish steamer Norge were landed here by the British steamer Corvina. Seventy survivors were also taken off the German steamer Energie. They were all in a pitiful condition. Many were taken to the hospital and most of them had to be carried ashore.

Among those on board the Energie was Capt. Gundel of the Norge. His said:

"All went well until about 7:45 o'clock last Tuesday. When about eighteen miles south of Rockall I felt the steamer strike heavily forward on a sunken rock. There was a gentle breeze blowing from the south with a cloudy sky.

"I was on the bridge with Chief Officer Carpenter. Soundings were taken and it was reported there, were five feet of water in the forward hold.

"Orders were given to commence pumping and also to the passengers to put on life belts and be ready to get into the boats, which were ordered to be put out.

Chief Officer Is Drowned

"The crew worked nobly under the leadership of the chief officer. Seven boats got safely away, the life rafts were cut adrift, and the steamer went down with the bow. The chief officer told me it was sinking and I told him to jump overboard, which he did. I did not see him again.

"I went down with the steamer. My right leg got jammed between two stanchions and was much injured. When I rose to the surface I noticed a number of bodies floating.

"The Norge was afloat only about twenty minutes after striking.

"I swam for about twenty minutes and came across Second Engineer Brunn, who is a good swimmer. We kept company for about an hour and a half, when we noticed a boat some distance ahead of us.

"I was hindered by my sore leg and the engineer reached the boat first. Both of us were taken on board quite exhausted. We found that it was lifeboat No. 1. It was crowded and under the charge of Able Seaman Peter Olsen.

"After recovering a little I took charge of the boat and the provisions, which consisted only of a box with bread and two casks of water. The boat was steered for St. Kilda, 150 miles distant.

"Saturday morning we saw a large schooner rigged steamer about four miles distant. We put up a blanket on an oar, but the steamer passed on without taking any notice of us.

"Sunday morning a bark passed some distance off, but with the same result.

"Land Is Sighted.

"At about 12 o'clock Sunday land was sighted and the drooping spirits of all were revived. It proved to be St. Kilda.

"Some time afterwards a steamer was noticed coming from the west, bearing down upon our boat. It proved to be the Energie, and at 6 o'clock we were safe on board."

A pathetic little sequel to this tale of rescue is contained in the statement that on Saturday morning one of the children in the lifeboat died, and, with the consent of the parents, who were in the boat, the body was buried at sea."

Those rescued by the Corvina included two women and six children, and by the Energie thirteen women and twenty-eight children.

Head of the Catholic Church Had an Attack of Palpitation of the Heart.

Rome, July 5.—The pope suffered a sudden attack of palpitation of the heart this morning. It was due to heat and worry over the Vatican affairs. The attack soon passed, but left his holiness very weak.

WERE WEDDED AT ST. JOSEPH, MO.

Thomas H. Howe and Miss Mattie Ray McGuire United in Marriage.

Thomas Henry Howe, one of the popular young men of this city and a machinist who has been in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at this station for the past fourteen years, bade his friends in this city goodbye last week and said that he was going to St. Joseph, Mo., his old home, to visit friends and relatives for a few weeks, but it proved a different story yesterday when the news reached this city that Mr. Howe had gone to St. Joseph to claim a bride. The following clipping of the wedding was taken from the St. Joseph paper:

Among the notable weddings of the week was that of Miss Mattie Ray McGuire of this city and Mr. Thomas H. Howe of Jamesville, Wis., at the home of the bride's mother, 2331 South Tenth street, last Tuesday evening at half-past 8 o'clock. The ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of relatives of the young people, was solemnized by the Rev. V. O. White, and the only attendants were Misses Cecile and McGuire, who acted as flower girls, and Master Victor Lee White, who bore the ring. Mr. and Mrs. Howe left for St. Louis, where they will visit the fair before going to Jamesville, where they will be at home to their friends at 55 Dodge street, after August 1.

Jamesville, Wis., July 5.—Fully 25,000 strangers helped Jamesville celebrate the Fourth with a society parade and home-talent dress. Jamesville society girls who had promised to wear short skirts in the parade refused at the last minute and vaudeville girls were hurriedly brought from Chicago at an expense of $300 to take their places.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]
St. Louis, Mo., July 5.—A fire two-fifteen this morning destroyed the restaurant in the Jerusalem concession of the world's fair. NINETEEN LOSE LIVES
IN LITCHFIELD WRECK

Disaster on the Wabash Railroad Is Being Investigated by County and State Officials.

Litchfield, Ill., July 5.—As a result of the Wabash wreck here Sunday afternoon, in which at least nineteen persons are dead and forty injured, arrests may be ordered. Corner Gray is making an investigation into the open switch mystery. According to Charles A. Corneau, the Wabash station agent here, the switch had not been used during the day by any of the trainmen. The state authorities also are conducting a rigid investigation into the cause of the accident.

Charles Ward of Chicago and William Bambalis of Maywood, two of the injured, died Monday, and two unidentified bodies were found in the wreckage.

The horrors of the disaster have not lessened and the two understating establishments have been busy preparing the dead for burial. Seven hundred passengers were said to have been on board the train at the time of the accident, and many are believed to have perished in the flames who will never be accounted for.

It was feared Harry Rodenburg of Decatur, nephew of Congressman Rodenburg of East St. Louis, who was expected to arrive in East St. Louis on the ill-fated train for a visit to his uncle, was among the killed. Congressman Rodenburg arrived here to investigate, and found his nephew had gone to Mount Pleasant to spend the Fourth instead of starting to East St. Louis.

A wrecking crew has been busy removing the debris from the place of the wreck. The scene of the wreck was visited by thousands of people.

Litchfield is in mourning, the celebration of the Fourth that had been planned having been declared off. St. Francis' hospital is crowded with the wounded, cots having been placed in the corridors to accommodate them. Private houses have been thrown open for the care of those not so badly injured.

Forest of Papyrus Trees

Very few persons know that Italy, among her other treasures, possesses a small forest of papyrus trees, which grow on the banks of the Anapus, near Syracuse. This is most curious, as it seems that this tree can only live on the waters of the Nile, the Nile and this small and insignificant stream at Syracuse.

SURVIVORS ARE COMING HOME NOW

Twenty-Seven Survivors of the Awful Sea Horror Start for This Country.

Liverpool, July 5.—Twenty-seven survivors of the liner Norge wrecked off Rockall last Tuesday, sailed for Boston today aboard the Cunard liner Saxonia. The other survivors will be forwarded as soon as arrangements can be made.

DRUNK ENTERED
DR. LOOMIS' HOUSE

Made Himself at Home, and Took a Sound Nap in the Parlor.

At meal time yesterday noon, while Dr. Loomis and family were eating dinner a drunken man entered the house and unknown to the family, and from all indications unknown to himself, turned the parlor of Dr. Loomis' residence into a sleeping apartment and the couch into a bed. When discovered the sweet angel of sleep reigned over her subject supremely. All the efforts of the family to awaken him availed nothing. He was dragged out onto the porch where the efforts to arouse the drunk were renewed and redoubled until finally a dose of the "hot foot" prescribed and administered by a passerby turned the trick and no more was seen of sleepy Mr. Drunk.

Tell Fortunes by Kites.

On the flat rooftops of Moscow girls may often be seen flying kites which they believe will give an augury of their future. If the kite remains unbroken good fortune is in store for them; if mishap befall it, evil days will be their portion. Their faith in the oracle is so great that mishap to the kite plunges them in dejection.

Russian Soldier's Coolness

A good story, though not strictly Cossack, is told of the soldiers in a regiment at Sebastopol who were about to partake of the usual soup from the usual pan. A shell fell in their midst but a cool-headed Russian ran and, dropping it into the pan, cried: "Welcome, Maria Ivanovna, and taste our soup."

How It Goes

A Telephone Conundrum

The Reading Hustler asks: "If Ann is 24 years old and goes out into the orchard and eats a green apple and gets the colic, what is her telephone number?" and a contemporary replies, "You might try sick's sickly, but the chances are that the line is 'busy.'"

SHARP CONTEST FOR DELEGATES

Factional Fight Absorbs Attention of Democratic National Committee.

HOPKINS MEN CLAIMING VICTORY

But the Sub-Committee Announces That It Has Reached
No Conclusion, Even After a Nine Hours' Hearing.

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—What is considered to be the beginning of a stampede to Parker took place Monday night in the action of the Pennsylvania delegation in adopting, by a vote of 57 to 5, a resolution instructing the chairman of the delegation to cast Pennsylvania's sixty-eight votes in the convention for Judge Alton B. Parker.

This vote was the result of the first ballot in the caucus of the delegation. It followed a spirited nominating speech by Charles P. Donnelly, chairman of the Democratic city committee of Philadelphia. There was no opposition to Parker in the way of speech-making.

This caucus was presided over by State Chairman Hall. The vote was called at once, showing sixty-two of the sixty-eight delegates present. Col. James M. Guffey was chosen chairman of the delegation by acclamation, and was again made a member of the national committee, also by acclamation.

Effect on Emulre State

The action of Pennsylvania almost entirely changed the situation so far as the divided sentiment in the New York delegation was concerned. Senator Hill was led to remark that with another small accession Judge Parker would be elected on the first ballot. William F. Sheehan, who has been the active leader of the Parker forces, and August Belmont deprecated this, and argued that it would be wise to allow the other states to at least have the honor of nominating their favorite candidate.

The news was received at the Tammany headquarters in an entirely different way. Leader Murphy at first refused to believe it, saying he had been assured that the delegation would support ex-Governor Pattison.

Upsets Plans of Politicians

It was only a few minutes prior to the announcement of Pennsylvania's vote that State Senator Thomas F. Grady had declared Pennsylvania would vote for her favorite son and that Tammany had planned to abandon the effort to concentrate the anti-

Bourke Cockran and some others of the leaders in Tammany went over to Alabama's delegation to try to persuade them to consolidate their ten anti-Parker votes. Alabama has 22 votes, 12 of whom are in structured for Parker, and other being divided on several candidates. It is understood that Mr. Cockran was met with the threat by the twelve Parker adherents that if any attempt was made to consolidate the other interests they would adopt the unit rule and cast the whole 22 votes for Parker.

Still another rebuff to Tammany's plans came from Virginia. Tammany, assisted by Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, had been attempting to win the Virginia delegation from Parker. Senator Martin of Virginia telegraphed Senator Hill that while en route to the convention the Virginia delegation had voted unanimously to support Judge Parker.

DEMANDS $800,000 FOR EIGHT LOST RELATIVES

Man Bereaved by Slocum Disaster Begins Suit Against Knickerbocker Steamboat Company.

New York, July 5.—A suit for $800,000 damages has been instituted in the Supreme court against the Knickerbocker Steamboat company and its directors by Adolph Molitor of Sherwood park, Mount Vernon. Molitor lost his wife, three children, three sisters-in-law, and a nephew in the General Slocum disaster. He makes demand in his suit for $100,000 for the loss of each life. He includes in his suit a demand for $100,000 for the killing of his 6-months-old baby, Joseph, whose body he has been unable to find. He has searched all the morgues and hospitals and along the shores of the East river and the sound for ten days.

Bachelors as Bad Citizens

The greater number of young men who can afford to get married and don't are detested by purely selfish motives and want to live selfish lives. The bachelor from choice is neither a good citizen nor a good patriot. A grave source of danger to the country is that poor men marry too early and rich men too late.—George R. Sims in the Itoferre.

The Anemone Classified

The anemone belongs to the democratic family of crowfoots. Among its relatives are the climbers, the clematis and virgin's bower, the hepatica, meadow rue, bugbane, buttercup, goldthread, columbine, hellebore, marsh marigold and larkspur, monkshood, yellow puccoon and baneberry. To the uninitiated in systems of classification the threads of association are almost invisible.

Valuable Records Lost

The conquest of Egypt by the Saracens deprived Europe of papyrus and caused a sort of hiatus in the history of the world for the simple reason that people making records, etc., scratched out ancient writings on that parchment in order to use it over again, thus losing to the world most valuable records.

DELEGATES WORK
AGAINST PARKER

They Are Making Combinations Overthrow the Nomination of Parker.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 5.—At ten this morning it was announced by anti-Parker leaders a combination against Parker was finally effected. The strength of Olney, Wall, Cockrell, Harmon and Gray formed a nucleus deal with Bryan and Hearst's forces to complete. It has been announced confidently the combine has four hundred votes pledged against Parker on the first and second ballot. The combine is now working to win back Pennsylvania which was won over last night by Parker leaders. Tammany leaders openly threaten to defect Parker if nominated. Anti-Parker leaders wired Harmon at Cincinnati they will have a letter in St. Louis Wednesday morning stating what his position was in 1896. If this letter is satisfactory Bryan or Harmon will be choice and will concentrate strength on him to beat Parker.

Rich Lands of Manchuria

The Chinese Eastern railway, the southeastern terminus of the great Siberian railway, in its course through Manchuria to La and Port Arthur, passes through 1,000 miles of as continuously rich agricultural country as can be found anywhere in the world. Every acre is cultivated.

Chinese Are Lightly Taxed

The Chinese are perhaps the most lightly taxed people in the world. In China all the land belongs to the State, and a trifling sum per acre is paid as rent. This is the only tax in the country, and it amounts to about 60 cents per head yearly.

Kittens Kill a Poisonous Snake

Major Walters, commanding an English regiment in Sistan, had a curious experience lately. A large poisonous viper was creeping under his bed, where it was caught and killed by two favorite Persian kittens.

Increased Use of Asphalt

Asphalt was first used for street pavements in Paris in 1838, and since then the demand for this purpose has warranted an annual production throughout the world of 450,000 to 500,000 metric tons of asphalt and bituminous rock.

A BIG FIRE IN COTTON MILLS

GUTTED CARDING AND MATTRESS ROOMS MONDAY MORNING.

CAUSED BY A SKY ROCKET

Factory May Not Be in Full Running Order for Many Weeks—Tobacco Damaged in Carle Warehouse

At a quarter of an hour before three o'clock Monday morning Chief Klein and his men at the west side fire station were apprised by the automatic alarm connections with the Rock River Cotton Co.'s plant of a blaze in that locality and hastened to the scene. Upon their arrival they found the flames raging on the three floors of that section of the building which contains the carding rooms, the finished "bats," and the mattress factory. The fire chiefly the location of the building, especially the location of the belt and shafts leading into the other wings of the structure and the elevator shafts enabled him to reach his men where they could do the most good and to eventually save adjoining property valued at a half a million dollars. Two streams were quickly playing on the building and the alarm which was turned in from box 19 quickly brought the east side firemen to the scene. The steamer was called for and in a few moments ten streams of water were playing on the building. Four thousand feet of hose were in service. The aerial ladder was used to great advantage. After the first alarm ten was repeated twice to apprise the volunteers of the general call which is issued only in cases of emergency.

Fought Many Hours
It was nearly five o'clock before the danger to the storehouse and adjoining buildings was past and half past seven before the fire was entirely extinguished. Forty carding machines on the second floor were badly damaged as well as thousands of dollars worth of merchandise on the other two floors. The Messrs. Howe, this morning stated that they could attempt no estimate on their loss. The extent to which the machines were damaged cannot be estimated at this time. It is certain, however, that many of them will have to be replaced and nearly all the others rebuilt. Some of the machinery was built here and is not duplicated elsewhere. It may, therefore, be two or three months before the factory can be running on the old schedule again though the twin room will be in operation again in ten days. The greatest loss will be that of the business they are deprived of during this time. Word has been telegraphed to the manufacturer of carding machines asking for prices and information regarding the quickest possible deliveries.

Started by Sky Rocket
It is believed that the fire had its inception from a sky-rocket or some other form of fireworks that entered through one of the windows facing North River street and that this flame smoldered perhaps an hour or more before the heat broke the glass and let in the air and caused the draught. "It was a quick flame that spread in a sheet and had little body to it until the woodwork caught fire," said T. O. Howe, this morning. "If we had had those automatic sprinklers which the Water Co. refused to grant and which it is relieved from furnishing owing to a technicality in the franchise, our loss would have been trifling."

Carle Warehouse Loss

Water and smoke from the building got into the adjoining warehouse of L. B. Carle & Son and did considerable damage amounting perhaps to two or three thousand dollars in the 1901 and 1902 packings. The proprietors were taking inventory this morning but would make no estimate.

ELGIN TEAM MET DEFEAT SUNDAY

Janesville Baseball Nine Vanquished Illinois Players to the Tune of 17 to 1—Locals in Fine Form

Elgin's baseball team proved no match for the Janesville players in the game at Yost's park Sunday and was decisively beaten by the score of 17 to 1. The home team is in excellent form, showing up well both at the bat and in the field, and is now ready to meet any amateur team in the northwest. Ruhland for Janesville easily carried off the batting honors with a total of four hits out of five opportunities at the home plate. On Sunday, July 4, a game will be played with the strong Madison city league team, a nine that has been putting up excellent games and is said to be remarkably well balanced in every department. The record of the last contest was as follows:

Runs: Janesville, 17; Elgin, 1. Bases: Janesville, 17; Elgin, 6. Base on balls: Palmer, 1; Gertz, 1. Double plays: Mills to Travvora to Ruhland; Ackerman to Thompson; Ackerman to Thompson. Hits by pitched ball: Ruhland, 4; Elgin, 4. Struck out by: Palmer, 7. First base on balls: Palmer, 1; Gertz, 4. Time: 1:45. Umpire: Mullin.

Annual Outing of Children of Mary

At Ho-No-Ne-Gah Park—The St. Patrick's Church Society Will Have an Outing.

Tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock the Children of Mary, a society composed of little girls of St. Patrick's congregation will leave over the inter-city line in two cars for Ho-No-Ne-Gah park on their annual outing. This is one of the youngest organizations in the church and during its short career has done much good work.

The society now numbers one hundred and fifty members. The car carrying the refreshments will leave at 8:15 and the children are requested to bring all eatable so that they can be sent on this car. The car for the picnic party will leave at 8:30 and when the park is reached the day will be spent in all kinds of games and amusements appropriate to such gatherings. The juvenile orchestra composed of twelve pieces will also accompany the party and a good time is assured to all who attend.

A Large Class Receive Communion

A Number of Children of St. Mary's Church Received Holy Communion Sunday Morning.

Who Saw Them?

The following clipping was taken from this morning's Chicago Chronicle. Did anyone see the Chicago girls imported at great cost in yesterday's parade? The vivid imagination portrayed is worthy of Baron Munchausen and the ability of day dreaming should be recognized as the premier of this neck of the woods:

Refuse to March in Abbreviated Skirts and Attresses Take Their Places. (Special Telegram.)

Janesville, Wis., July 4.—Fully 25,000 strangers helped Janesville celebrate the fourth with a society parade and home-taken circus. Janesville society girls who had promised to wear short skirts in the parade refused at the last minute and Janesville girls were hurriedly brought from Chicago at an expense of $300 to take their places.

LONG, LONG AGO HE WENT TO WAR

Stephen Post of Houston, Texas, Visiting Old Friends, After Long Absence.

After an absence of forty years Stephen Post of Houston, Texas, who enlisted from Janesville with the Third Wisconsin artillery during the civil war is visiting friends in Janesville for the first time since the war closed. Mr. Post lived at Home Park before the war and was on the train of recruits that was wrecked between Janesville and Chicago while on the way to the front. Thirty-seven boys in blue were killed and several others badly injured, all through the carelessness of a drunken engineer. Any of the older residents of Janesville remember the sad occasion.

TOBACCO PLANTS ARE DOING WELL

The Prospects for a Live Crop Are Very Promising at This Season of the Year.

The transplanting of the new tobacco crop is now so far along in most growing sections that it is a safe prediction that this work will be completed by the usual time for planting in this latitude, at least by July 4, says the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter. Generally speaking the crop has gone into the fields under better conditions than the ordinary season. There has been no hot burning sun to parch the plants after being pitched in the fields, and timely rains have fallen over most sections to give an early rooting of the young plants. Nearly all the early set fields now show a good stand and the plants well started. Rarely has the soil been in better condition for working up rich and mellow, so the transplanting machines will do effective work. There is less complaint than usual of the depredations of cut worms, and in most localities there has been an abundance of plants for the intended acreage. At the present writing the outlook is most encouraging. Despite the fact of a late start most of the delays have already been overcome and the crop starts out favorably.

The quiet movement in the 1903 crop that has been going on for several weeks past has absorbed so large a portion of the annual fraction that there promises to be no surplus remaining in country hands to interfere with the prospective sale of packings. A few months ago it was feared that much of the low grade leaf of last season's crop would be a drag upon the market, for the demand for export leaf was far from satisfactory, while the trade of strippers for the domestic market was not particularly good either. Indications now point to a gradual absorption of all this low grade stock as the season advances.

Some buying from country hands is still being done, but the movement shows a decline from former weeks. The buyers of the American Cigar company are, however, quite active and are sweeping up some localities clean. The impression of the best posted dealers is that the crop is about as nearly picked up as the 1902 was at this date a year ago. Old leaf in growers' hands is being quietly gathered in, but in all this trading prices do not afford much profit to the growers.

Only a moderate business in old leaf is reported by packers. The present week will see the transplanting of the new crop nearly completed and growers are never given more favorable conditions for this work. The early set fields are well started and prospects very satisfactory. The shipments out of storage continue light, not exceeding 3000s from this market to all points for the week.

BEEF CULTURE IS NOW PROGRESSING

EXCELLENT CONDITION OF THE CROPS REMARKED UPON.

LA FAYETTE MYERS WRITES

Hardest Work of the Growers is Now Over—The Plants Are All Doing Very Well.

(By La Fayette Myers.)

It is a pleasure now to drive about amongst our beet growers and talk with them about the crop. The beet crop in any state for any year never looked better than our own here in Wisconsin now. It is particularly pleasing to note the clear fields and the rapid headway the crop is making from day to day, also the satisfaction expressed by every grower with the present condition of his crop. The general rain that visited the beet growing territory last week was just what was needed for the later planting and now with the good use of the hoe and cultivator for the next weeks the crop will be made. At the early part of the season it was feared by some that enough labor could not be procured at the right time to do the necessary hand labor connected with the growth of the crop, but there has not been one bit of trouble in this line and now that the work is over we know that there is enough labor procurable to do the work on twice the acreage planted this year.

We would advise the continual use of the hoe and cultivator now until the leaves of the plants completely cover the rows, don't by any means neglect your field now that the hardest and most particular work is over, every field should be gone over again for the last time and all the grass and weeds and double beets pulled or hoed out. Reports from all the outside towns show that the crop is practically all thinned out as it is here and also making good headway. Work on the factory is progressing rapidly and in a very satisfactory manner.

JANESVILLE MEN ARE ALL LISTED

Great Song Festival in Milwaukee Brings Many Singing Societies Together.

About thirty singing societies in Wisconsin, representing the best organizations of the kind, will participate in the Saengerfest to be held in Milwaukee July 28-30 inclusive. Wisconsin is one of seven states to be represented at the Fest and judging from reports from various cities, the Saenger singers will do their share in making the festival a success.

The following is a list of Wisconsin societies that will send singers there:

San Clair, Germania; Janesville, Concordia; La Crosse, Frohsinn; La Crosse, Liederkreis; La Crosse, Maennerechor; Manitowish, Concordia; Manitowish, Froder Saengerbund; Mayville, Tentonia; Monroe, Harmonie; Racine, Deutsche Maennerechor; Ripon, Germania; Sheboygan, Concordia; Waukesha, Germania.

These societies will, it is estimated, be represented by at least 750 singers, all well trained voices. Within the past few days several committees from various organizations in the state have visited in Milwaukee and completed arrangements for hotel accommodations. Wisconsin singers will be more fortunate than singers from other states in the matter of securing rooms. This is due to the fact that they live nearer Milwaukee and are in closer touch with hotel men than singers living in other states.

Most of the Wisconsin societies have been rehearsing for several weeks past for their part in the work, but rehearsals will not be abandoned until the last moment, probably only a few hours before the opening concert at the exposition on the night of July 28.

Wisconsin singers will take an active part in all the concerts and each society will send a large delegation to hear their fellow members sing. A principal feature of the big festival is to be found in the quartette of soloists which has been secured for the occasion. Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Helk, contralto; Mrs. Minnie Fish-Griffin, soprano; Ellison Van Hoise, tenor and Arthur Van Eweyk, baritone, all bear reputations as vocalists that have been won only after almost world-wide demonstration of their artistic ability. At least two of these have already won encephalons in Milwaukee for their work at the big concerts of the musical societies and the praise bestowed upon them by all the eastern critics leaves no room for doubt as to the success of their part in the festival. They will be assisted by choruses of from 2500 to more than 4,000 voices. The sublime effect of such music must be felt to be realized. It cannot be described.

Are you thin? Would you like to get fat and plump? Tried "laughing." Wouldn't work—now take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—will do the business. 35 cents, tea or tablets. Smith Drug Co.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workman—

Children engaged in labor in the United States reach the enormous figures of 1,550,000.

Demand for skilled white labor is steadily increasing in South Africa. There are 85,000 trade unions in New South Wales.

New Orleans has fifteen negro labor unions, numbering 11,000 men.

A legal bureau has been established by the Chicago Federation of Labor to fight injunctions and other court proceedings.

At the recent assembling of the state general at the Hague, in Holland, the queen's speech dealt largely with the excellence of the services rendered by the navy and army during the recent railroad strikes. Referring to the disturbances in the domain of labor, the queen declared the government was desirous of "co-operating by continued social legislation in the healthy progress of the labor movement."

Frank Duffy, secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, has finished the annual report of that organization. It is his report that the country are organizing for a battle with the labor unions and calls the present a momentous time.

Rural letter carriers of the United States met in Chicago recently to form a national association. There were in attendance delegates representing 17,000 rural letter carriers. Better roads, more salary, fewer privations, holidays and other matters were discussed. The organization will be known as the National Rural Free Delivery Letter Carriers' Association.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, July 5, 1864.—Personal.—Hon. I. C. Sloan returned to his home in this city this afternoon.

Fourth of July.—Although our national anniversary was not honored with a regular set celebration here yesterday, yet there was no lack of ways and means whereby the glorious birthday of our liberties was remembered as of yore. Our streets were enlivened by the welcome presence of a large number of our country friends, and the day was given up generally to the enjoyment and merry-making by all classes.

At an early hour a number of the working members of the Soldiers' All society gathered at Lappin's hall to put things in readiness for the festival advertised to be held there. Notwithstanding the somewhat discouraging aspect of things that at first presented itself, strong hands and willing hearts soon gave a cheerful and business-like look to the hall; provisions were sent in in generous quantities, and before noon a number of inviting and well-filled tables were in readiness for the guests. While considerable numbers partook of the collation, we confess to some disappointment as to seeing so few, comparatively, of our business men present, to give aid and encouragement to the enterprise.

Brief and pertinent speeches were made by Joseph Baker, Esq., Rev. Mr. Kinney and Hon. David Noggle. In the evening a goodly number assembled and were briefly addressed by Mr. Ebbetts, Lieut. Col. Johnson of the 15th regiment recently escaped from Dixie, Major J. B. Whiting and others.

The speeches were all short and to the point, the singing good, the refreshments excellent, and better than all else the ladies received over two hundred and sixty odd dollars as the gross receipts of the enterprise. The festival at the Hyatt house hall for the benefit of the Catholic society was very numerously attended, and must have netted handsomely to the church.

We had prepared notes for at least a couple of columns—details of the fourth and its incidents, but being short of help today we are obliged to cut it down to a brief paragraph. Well Done.—Among the preserving and effective workers at Lappin's hall yesterday, the young ladies, Misses Lucy Dunn and May Noggle, solicited subscribers to the membership of the society, deserve special mention. They took in $108. The labors of Mrs. Dyke and Mr. Wm. Booth in the manufacturing of ice cream, and those of a couple of soldiers from Capt. Putnam's office contributed largely to the success of the festival. But where so many did yeoman's duty it is impossible to particularize.

This Hardly Expresses What

Janesville People Say of It.

Any itchiness of the skin is annoying.

Little danger in itching skin diseases.

But they make you miserable.

Doan's Liniment is a never-failing cure.

For Piles, Eczema, all itching troubles.

Janesville citizens endorse it.

L. Lawrence of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says: "I tried about everything recommended for itchy skin, but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's drug store. I had an affection of the skin on my face, caused from the burning oil about the engine and dynamo. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand abating for the skin broke and bleeds. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the itching and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without this remedy in my house and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-McIlhenny Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY
The republican national convention in session June 22, 1904, adopted by unanimous vote, the following sentiment, contained in the report of the committee on credentials, and offered by said committee after a thorough investigation of the Wisconsin contest:
"Your committee report it to be their final judgment and unanimous decision that the convention which elected John C. Spooner, Joseph V. Quarles, Joseph W. Babcock and Emil Baensch, as delegates-at-large, together with their alternates, was the regular convention of the republican party in Wisconsin."
This is the highest authority in the party, and the decision ought to satisfy every loyal republican in the state.

PREACHER AND REPORTER.
The minister, according to common belief, knows too little of life; the newspaper reporter, too much. However, that may be, Dr. Joseph J. George, president of the Chicago Theological Seminary, declared in his last Sunday's sermon that every candidate for the pastorate would do well to supplement his seminary studies by a year or two of experience in newspaper work before accepting a call. Thereby the young man would have a chance to study the real facts of life and get a knowledge of people in their actual relations and attitudes, says the Chicago Tribune.

Let us see how it would work if the young man in question devoted, let us say, a year and a half of his life to the experiment. In the first place he would have to find a job. City editors, as a rule, are not eagerly seeking a chance to train future preachers. Our young man would soon know this conversation by heart: "What experience?" "None." "I will let you know if anything turns up. Good day." He would learn a lot about life from that.

We may be easy on the young man and assume that after six months or so of search he found a job. He would then be, not a reporter, but a reporter apprentice. Probably he would sit around in the office a day or two and then be sent out to get a photograph of some local celebrity. If he got it—the task often takes skill and perseverance—and did not discuss his success too much with the city editor a few days later he might be sent out to get an obituary sketch. He would have a chance to write a hundred words, and to discover the next day how it ought to have been written by reading what actually was printed in the paper. He would learn a lot about life from that.

If he did fairly well and did not receive a buff envelope with a note explaining that "the force had to be reduced," etc., he might soon be given better assignments. He would be sent to a public meeting, or a charity ball, or a football game, and instructed to get the names of those present. Perhaps he would be allowed to take down some of the minor speeches at the meeting. When the star reporter went out to cover a big fire he might go along and get photographs and sketches of the victims, or run on other errands. He would learn a lot about life from that.

After a year or so, if the buff envelope still passed him by, he might be used in emergency work to interview a passing stranger, or "cover" some unimportant meeting all alone, when the staff was short. He might even write a "head"—a story half a column long—now and then. He would incidentally become the deadly enemy of all "copy readers," those unprincipled fiends who think they know how to improve "cut" reporters' fine stories.

By this time the year and a half would be up, and it would be time for our young man to "resign" and look for a pulpit. He would certainly have learned a lot about life—but it is safe to say he would never tell what he had learned in the pulpit.

The simple fact is that a reporter's work requires not only a special fitness but a special training. A good preacher might or might not make a good reporter, and vice versa. But offhand, and talking of young men in general, it may as truly be said that a year or two of experience in the pulpit would be good preliminary training for a reporter as that a year or two of reporting would be good training for the preacher.

The Milwaukee Journal resents charges that it favors the governor's reelection from mercenary views. Well, there are no other grounds it could place its stand upon. It is a reputable democratic organ and it certainly is not in the business for fun.

The Milwaukee News represents democracy and as such is hostile to the popocratic methods of the state administration. It respects republicanism but not debauched popocracy.

Reports from throughout the state show that fights will be made upon every county ticket by the third term faction if they do not promise support to the third term and populistic ideas.

Minnesota was not such an awful state after all. Harmony prevailed even through the minority report of the republican convention was accepted.

The republican ticket, headed by Roosevelt and Fairbanks, will be a hard combination, to beat at the democratic convention tomorrow.

Have you got all your fingers? Can you see with both eyes? Did your house burn up? Are all your family present or accounted for?

Mr. Wall, of Wisconsin, may constitute such an obstacle to the plans of Willie Bryan that he may not be in it any more.

That republican gold brick is being nicely gilded over again for a certain Mr. Stephenson, of Marinette, to investigate.

If Willie Hearst's barrel holds out he may land the plum. If not why some one else will pick the green fruit.

Mr. Parker, of New York, and his plumed knight, "I am a democrat" will have a strong combination.

So Mr. Cook, Senator Spooner and others of the Opera House convention were really republicans after all?

It was a celebration and no mistake that. When Janesville wakes up the whole country knows it.

Board could not forget that he represented a faction even when talking to the St. Louis audience.

It is Hopkins or Hearst in Illinois with Carter Harrison waiting to grab the glory and honor.

The democratic party cannot get away from the full dinner pail, try as hard as they can.

France has formally received our thanks for aiding us with the Sultan of Morocco.

Did you notice that even Japan and Russia had a Fourth of July celebration?

Fairbanks is still waiting to learn if the news he was nominated is really true.

Grover has telegraphic connections with the St. Louis convention after all.

Have you got over laughing at the Nemo Such Bros. and their parade yet?

Janesville was not the only city that celebrated. Read the usual lists.

Governor La Follette's speech at St. Louis was a masterful address.

How can the La Follette men be for Roosevelt if they are not republicans?

This good old summer time is as far away as it was last winter.

South America booms up again with an incipient revolution.

It is lucky that the Fourth comes but once a year.

Now begins the fun. The democrats are fighting among themselves.

How would Grover like to enter politics again?

Hayti is certainly the Isle of Unrest.

Today is July 5th. The Fourth is past.

PRESS COMMENT

Oshkosh Northwestern: If General Miles really wanted to run for president the chances are he has missed the only opportunity that will be given him.

Exchange: There are in use in the United States 1,610,220 railway cars and 41,228 locomotives.

Chicago Chronicle: If the Russians ever begin a genuine retreat there is land enough between Manchuria and St. Petersburg to make it a good one.

Racine Journal: They must have been having a night of it up in the Lick observatory, as according to the telegraph, one evening lately they discovered 100 new double stars.

Chicago Record-Herald: One reason why so many of the ancient Romans were able to turn their thumbs down was that they didn't celebrate with firecrackers in those days.

Green Bay Gazette: Green Bay is to be congratulated on the fact that it has at least one place, at the summer opera, where those who desire enjoyment with a tinge of culture can spend an evening.

Chicago Tribune: "Henry," said Mrs. Gaswell, in a horrified whisper, while the guests were waiting for the third course, "engage that old Mrs. Envey in conversation. She's going to ask the servant for one of those paper-mashay apples!"

Hudson Star-Times: Republicans who are republicans should no longer follow a will-o'-the-wisp, but pull in line for the grand old party. The national convention pointed out the regular way. Now all should fall in line for Roosevelt, Fairbanks, Cook, and the straight ticket.

London Punch: The Women's International congress, now sitting at Berlin, demands "the absolute equality of the sexes." Yet (and this is characteristic of female impracticability) no means have been suggested for raising the male sex to the standard attained by the other.

Menasha Record: If Governor La Follette wants to surprise about three quarters of the people of the state let him withdraw and declare his allegiance to the party that has made him. But the governor is not fond of some kinds of surprises.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The prohibitionists have nominated a man by the name of Swallow to head their ticket and put a Texas man on for second place. Just how they are going to reconcile this sort of business with a cold water campaign, is one of the mysteries which will doubtless be unraveled later on.

Deadlock of Long Ago. The Democratic national convention of 1852 was in session for six days and forty-nine ballots were taken on the nomination of a candidate for president. Franklin Pierce did not receive a vote until the fortieth ballot, when twenty-nine were cast for him. On the forty-ninth ballot he was unanimously nominated.

Shells as Ornaments. Cowrie shells are worn as amulets by the modern savages in Africa. Similar shells were worn in Strabo's time to keep off the evil eye. Red coral was a potent amulet to the seafarer, as it is at the present day in Mediterranean lands. If powdered it kept red rust from grain.

The Revolt of the Obscure. There's a great fuss made over singers, writers, painters, players, dancers and jockeys. These people have had the run of illustrated papers and social columns long enough. If there were more commendation given the woman who cooks a wholesome dinner for a man, and less eclat accorded the one who, after it, entertains him by placing her heels high above her head, it would be better for the community at large.—Sydney Bulletin

INDUSTRIES IN A LONG PARADE

THOUSANDS WITNESSED THE BIG PAGEANT IN THE MORNING.

THREE BANDS WERE PLAYING

And Many Civic Societies Were in Line—Speaking in Park Closed
Morning Celebration.

Way off in the hills miles and miles away sleepy country folk tossed restlessly in their couches long before the break of dawn yesterday morning and tried in vain to forget or ignore the rattle and roar that told them Janesville's celebration had begun. Within the gates of the city the ubiquitous king of the barnyard, accustomed to monopolize the only interruptions of the morning silence, retired from the field much perturbed and downcast. The day held little promise as far as atmospheric conditions were concerned but towards breakfast time the clouds began to gather on the thoroughfares resolved to make the most of the time that might intervene before the rain should fall. The small boy and the small girl and the big small boy, their numbers increasing with every stroke of the pendulum, began to augment the cannon cracker solo parts with a chorus of dynamite caps and other small-caliber instruments. Meanwhile excursionists were pouring from the trains and everything pointed to a big time regardless. When the gaudy floats began to move down the avenue towards their appointed waiting places everyone knew that the time had passed for the exercise of Rev. Ira Hicks' veto power.

Great Industrial Parade.
The Imperial band of Janesville, the Stoughton band, and the green coated musicians from Milton Junction began to march and counter-march on Milwaukee street while the procession of floats were forming on the tributary avenues. Then at half-past ten o'clock the great industrial parade became a unit and headed by Chief Hogan, C. K. Millmore on horseback, and a platoon of fire police commenced its march. Following them came Drum Major Ray Stuart and the Imperial band, the Grand Army, the carriages containing other G. A. R. members, Mayor Hutchinson, the city officials, and the speakers of the day. The Carpenters' union, the Brotherhood of Painters, and the Boot & Shoe Workers' union followed.

Modern Woodmen Team.
The Mandt Wagon Co.'s band of Stoughton headed the drill team of the modern camp of the Modern Woodmen, consisting of sixteen ladies and sixteen gentlemen all attired in purple and white and bearing axes and spears. All along the line this team was greeted with applause. The Modern Woodmen float and that of No. 36 A. O. U. W. followed. After them came the "Veana Planks" chariot, E. A. Hardy's exhibit of Boardman & Gray pianos and musical instruments, the miniature house of the Evans Paint Co., specimens of fancy products of the Rock County Concrete Stone Co., the seven teams and two sprinklers representing Local No. 137 of the Team Drivers' International union, the Janesville Steam laundry wagon, the Janesville dye works, the exhibit of F. E. Williams the optician, and a clown on a bicycle advertising the Burgess repair shop.

Some of the Cleverest.
The Wisconsin Carriage Co. had a wagon whose wheels might have been fashioned out of a board fence and an eccentric old couple rode therein and made much fun for the spectators. Tarrant & Kemmerer had a gipsy wagon with the traditional fish-pole hanging from the roof and a rather healthy horse ambling on behind. E. R. Winslow's pyramid of "Golden Palace" flour was followed by the Sherwin-Williams paint float from King's drugstore, Alan Heller as a clown on an old fashioned bike, the little Doty children on a float loaded down with the buckwheat flour from the mills. The gorgeous oriental float of J. M. Bostwick & Sons, resplendent with costly silks and rugs and presided over by four little girls in gorgeous gowns of the same material, called forth expressions of admiration on every side.

Presents for Crowd.
The Janesville Electric Co. with a small motor, the Standard Oil Co.'s wagon, and the "White Nickel soap" float, were followed by the Wisconsin Electric Co.'s exhibit for the Listman mills of La Crosse of Marvel flour. A chef on the rear of the float of the amusement of the lady spectators who had divers suggestions to offer as to the kind of the dough. H. L. McNamara's float followed and the cups manufactured on board were thrown to the crowd. T. F. McKelue had his cigar-makers with him and they busied themselves making "Dum Dum" cigars which were presented to the spectators. The St. Paul road advertised the excursion to Milwaukee on July 17 and E. W. Lowell showed the key to success to consist in talking to him. J. H. Murray had a float loaded down with trunks and satchels and P. Hohenadel exhibited barrels and barrels of pickles.

Milton Junction Band.
Following the Milton Junction band came the Blatz beer wagon, the three carts from Colby's bakery, the wagons of the Eureka bakery, Honan & Lane, and John Woerner, Marzluft's "Nonesuch" shoes. C. H. Kueck's meat wagon, Geo. H. Yahn's meat wagon, the Rock River Cotton Co.'s beautiful Liberty bell of cotton and a sign improvised at the last moment "We're in the Ring Yet," the Knipp Brewing Co.'s scene representing the discoverer of the brewer's art, the handsome float of the Hough Shade corporation, the long-haired Wetmore tonic boy on horseback, and J. F. Spoon's coal float.

Speaking in Park.
After the parade the Imperial band rendered several selections in the park. Rev. Vaughan offered a prayer and Mrs. Day read the Declaration of Independence. Rev. Denison's address was in a happy vein. He took an optimistic view of the future and predicted that the time would come when the fire cracker would be supplanted by a more real if less demonstrative patriotism. His anecdote pleased his hearers, as well as his plea for civic honesty and to have the duties of citizenship well performed. With a final plea by the band all went home to dinner.

BARNUM & BAILEY MAY HAVE TO PAY

Posted Circus Bills on a Freshly Painted Tobacco Shed.

Attorney H. L. Maxfield in behalf of Babcock & Snyder, a leaf tobacco firm of Rockford, has notified the management of the Barnum & Bailey shows that unless settlement for damages to tobacco belonging to that firm be made, suit against them will be commenced. The bill-posters of the Barnum & Bailey shows not being able to find the owners of the shed proceeded to cover one whole side with lithographs. The grounds for complaint are that the circus was infringing upon other people's rights and that the shed was freshly painted. The management will undoubtedly make a settlement as the case is clearly against them and the costs of litigation would undoubtedly exceed the amount of damages.

BOTH DANCES WERE WELL PATRONIZED

Birmingham and Oscar Mable composed the committee that had charge of the dance. The United Workmen held a dance at Assembly hall which was well filled with dancers. Music was furnished by Baldwin & Reed's orchestra. The members of the dance committee were Fred Schmitt, Ed. Horn, E. D. Klenow, E. F. Shumacker, John Heller and G. E. Tanberg.

DAY MARRED BY ONE TRAGEDY

GEORGE ABLETT FATALLY INJURED IN ODD MANNER.

FELL INTO A CELLAR AREA

On North Main Street Last Night, and Death From Concussion of the Brain Came This Morning.

George Ablett who with his brother had been employed on the Dave Walworth farm about five miles northwest of the city came to Janesville yesterday with hundreds of others to have a good time. On North Main street last evening he was seated with some companions on the iron railing that guards the open space between the cellar windows of the Carle block and the sidewalk when he suddenly lost his balance and fell backward, striking violently the rough ground ten feet below. Observers of the accident hastened to his aid and he was carried into the cellar under the Ziegler store. Dr. Palmer was sent for and upon his arrival examined the man. The man was unconscious and he could not determine at that time the extent of the damage done. An hour later Ablett was removed to the hospital. At seven this morning the physician again examined him and the appearances seemed to be slightly favorable though he was still unconscious. A half hour later he breathed his last. Death resulted from concussion of the brain and injuries to the base of the brain. Ablett was a single man about thirty-five years of age.

TRIUMPH OF THE NONESUCH BROS.

ALL ROCK COUNTY CONVULSED WITH MERRIMENT.

CREAT AFTERNOON PAGEANT

Witnessed by Largest Throng That Ever Gathered on Streets of Janesville—Great Success.

But the real event of the day was the great pageant of the Nonesuch Bros. Twenty thousand people screamed with delight as the roaring glided farce swept down from the fair grounds. Even the horses tethered along the parade route broke the bounds of horse property and leaped out. At half-past two o'clock, with the sun shining full and bright overhead, the shrill blasts of the mounted trumpeters, Curtis Carpenter and H. G. Jaekle, announced the coming of the cortege. Marshals C. K. Millmore, M. McCue, John Fisher, C. G. Grippen, and Frank J. W. Hogan and Mayor Hutchinson, D. W. Watt and W. A. Jackson in carriages, constituted the escort. If anything was missing in the parade that followed it has not yet been named. Late last evening George McKee and his co-workers were busy receiving the plaudits of an admiring multitude. It was the finest spectacle of the kind ever seen in Janesville.

Indians and Cowboys.
First came the proprietors of the show, Col. Nonesuch and a long lost brother, who in everyday life are known as Dr. E. D. Roberts and M. R. Oshorn. The personnel of the long caravan was a large and distinguished one. R. M. Bostwick, Jr., had the seat of honor in the monkey's cage and manipulated the organ while the trained animals performed. Will Watt was Barker and W. A. Davis driver for this attraction. The East Indian juggler, white turbaned and bedecked with jewels was George M. McKee. With him were the howling dervishes: Douglas F. McKee, Norris Smith, Stephen Gardner, and Stewart Ick. His Barker was Malcolm O. Mount. Along the route of the parade several startling exhibitions of sword swallowing were given by the gifted neocromancer. The clown acrobats on the hay rack were: Alfred Griswold, Fred Wilkerson, and James Gregory.

Bareback Sensation.
Charles Bostwick, the butterfly female equestrienne was one of the sensations of the parade. He drove the black mare Chick Nonesuch and three of her colts. The animal is the property of Charles Kemmerer and was purchased seventeen years ago of James Van Etten. She is the mother of thirteen colts, one of which is now in France. The tribe of warrior Indians consisted of Ben Miller, Harry Lincoln, John Cassidy, Roddy Enright, Fannie Conley, and Florence Dugan. Joe Baker was a Mexican rider and Joe Murray, Gordon Randall, and "Bunt" Ray were cowboys. Glenn Burdick drove the Deadwood coach and the quartette on board consisted of Messrs. Bennett, Garbutt, Cary, and Burns. Hugh Collins was a funny clown on horseback.

The Darktown Band.
The Darktown band consisted of Edward Ehrlinger, H. A. Storm, C. W. Henscoter, Roy Ryan, a jig dancer, Allen Dearborn, an Indian, and Fred Ayers, Happy Hoolligan. Two clowns were Joe Dineers and Harold Hathorn. Emil M. Erikson, Fred T. Edman, and Charles H. Nott were members of the Midway band. Malachi Fish and an incognito impersonator a country couple. The chauffeurs of the bicycle automobile were: F. E. Sadler and Fred Isaacs, Walter Aris, front, and Arthur Stevens, rear, constituted the giraffe. John Bick was driver and Webster Peters, Barker. G. H. Nicholson was a clown bicycle rider; J. F. Wilbur and C. W. Whitler posed as equestrian and equestrienne. It should be mentioned in passing that Harry Woodruff was the Indian passenger and Gordon Cain the clown passenger in the Deadwood coach.

The Gold Dust Twins.
Alex Menz manipulated the horse automobile. Louis Baumann and G. R. Holst guarded the cage containing the sacred hilly-ox. Dinah at the Wash was impersonated by J. T. Spohn with J. A. Drummond as driver. E. Lawrence was a clown driver with a sulky. Bert F. Lincoln as a "rube" clown gathered many smiles.

The Mascot band consisted of James Smith, Harry Smith, John Smith, Kent Crandall, Fred Brown, James McGhee, Rollo Dobson, and Fred Gibbs. Mark Bostwick and David Atwood, black and frolicsome, impersonated the Gold Dust Twins and succeeded in overturning their wagon on several innocent spectators who ventured too near. Sherman Fisher had a fine makeup as a clown and drove with his pet dog behind a shot-land pony. The couple who were to be married in the lion's cage immediately after the performance were: William Joyce, groom, and Frank Boylan, bride. Jack Joyce was Barker.

The Lion's Den.
John Horn, trainer, rode with two large St. Bernard lions and Master Noel Fulton, child acrobat, rode on top of the cage. Arnold Tift was Barker and W. H. Conroy, driver. W. G. Peters was a German clown. The "Mounted cavalry band" with hobby horses constructed of apple barrels with feather-duster tails, consisted of a portion of the Imperial band. Many of them had been in training for weeks under the impression that they must ride on horseback. Albert Schaller and Charles Tallman were assistants to Madame Charles Bostwick, equestrienne. Ed. Carpenter and Mr. Marshall rode in a cage of wild animals. On another animal cage W. E. Spicer was driver and Master Harry Brown, Ray Mason, Del Mason, and Willie Kober, trainers.

Beautiful Tandem Driver.
The beautiful dandy who drove the horse and much-herbioned-hurro tandem was Ned Whitton. W. H. Dickerson and Frank Fellows were Laplanders on a summer sleigh-ride. C. C. MacLean in Highlander's costume and with the bag-pipes danced along the highway in front of the five and drum band consisting of Harry Morse, E. J. Smith, Dan Higgins, Bert Watt, Fred Sheldon, Clarence Hemmens, George Harrington, F. B. Strickler, Joe Connors, and Ross King. Ira Fisher was banner-bearer. Aboard the pipe organ were Prof. W. T. Thiele, organist, Charles Snyder, and drivers P. H. and W. E. Dulin.

The Russian Artillery.
The Muscovitzky artillery, stereo of men but gentle of soul, who fired loaves of bread to the multitude from the cannon's mouth consisted of Harry Bliss, Dr. Leslie, Charles P. Gage, and William Dooley. The drivers were George Palmer and Ed. Banfield. M. Paulson, George Karberg, and Master Tracy, also had charge of one of the animal cages. The Uncle Josh Sprucey band consisted of Leader John Fulton, Leonard Farley, Leslie Record, Elmer Seville, A. M. Fisher, Ward Stevens, Jesse Earle, Ray Stewart, William Dougherty, Ed Kay, Grant Fisher, John Crown, R. H. Van Cleave, with Ed. Peterson as Barker.

The Elephant Wagon.
Musician Gower levied tribute on all the threshing machines in Rock county for whistles for his steam callopo. Art Ott was driver. Two tramps in a wagon announcing "We Don't Own the Show" represented Barnum & Bailey. Earl Brown and Harper Gallup were the "electric light plant." The wagon of baby elephants sitting up on their haunches and revolving in the mazes of the dance made a big hit. It was devised by the originator of many of the features of the show, George McKee.

The thoroughbred stable of E. R. Thomas of New York, the millionaire sportsman, bids fair to become the largest winner of the present season.

Hermis, by Hermene, and out of Katy of the West, recently added $71,000 to the stable's purse by winning the great Saratoga handicap at Saratoga, N. Y., and Mr. Thomas has a dozen other runners widely entered in valuable races.

In addition to the stake Mr. Thomas won heavily in the betting ring at the Saratoga. It is estimated that he took $75,000 away from the "bookies."

In addition to Hermis Mr. Thomas has in his racing string Advance Guard, Andy Williams, Buttons, Dimple, Duke of Kendal, Hunter Haine, Lady Amelia, Oatmeal, Palmbecker, St. Valentine, Shafter, Sturtevant, Voladay, Young Henry and Zoroaster.

Mr. Thomas began his turf career early in the season of 1903. He is a boyish and very innocent looking young gentleman, mild mannered and not given to making any noise in the world, but he is many times a millionaire, and much of his fortune has been made in the stock market. But this tall, athletic and boyish looking E. R. Thomas will win and lose "fair riding" bets at the track without telling anybody about them. He is said by some to be a bad loser, but it is not the loss of the money that ruffles Mr. Thomas' temper, but the mortification of seeing one of his pet thoroughbreds beaten by what he may happen to consider an ill judged rider. He does not confine himself to betting heavily on his own

It appears that the Britishers have adapted their play to suit the rubber eared ball, and once having mastered it it was natural the records made with the gutta percha article in its earlier stages should go by the board.

When the American invention was first introduced across the water, it was given a chilly reception by the professionals, but its merits were so obvious the conservative Britishers were forced to adopt it.

The cry was then that the new ball would deprive the game of much of its science and tend to put the poor player more on an equality with the more science exponent of the sport. Judging from the scores made at Sandwich, the professional is still just as far ahead of the amateur as he was during the reign of the gutta percha article.

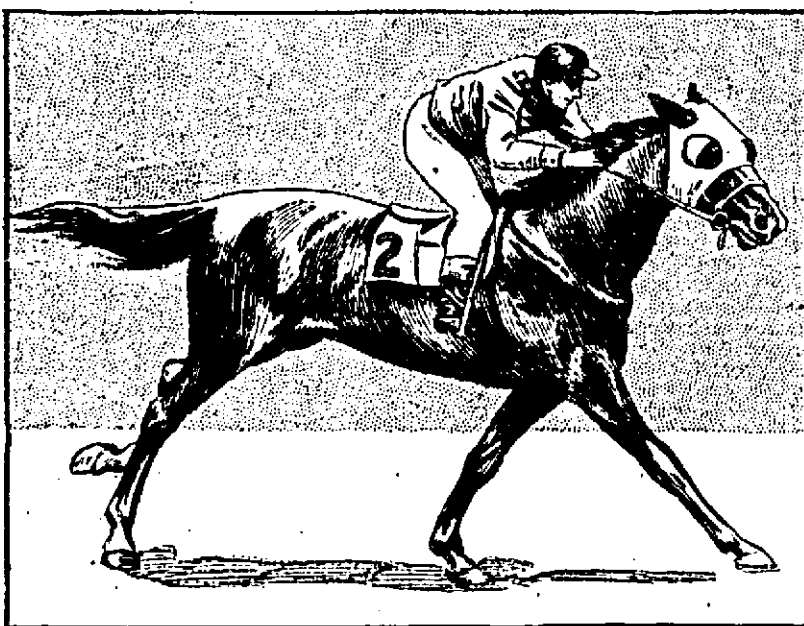

A promising new cycle racer is now preparing to give the leaders in the scorching game a scare. He is Willie Michael, brother to the noted Jimmy, who several years ago occupied the throne of champion middle distance rider of the world.

Willie is a good one, according to such an expert in the bicycle world as Tom Eck, the noted trainer. He'll not need the fame of his brother to carry him very far, he says, and in a short time will cut a great big figure in the bicycle racing line.

Willie has cycled some very fast miles against time and says that in a month or two the leaders will have to reckon with him.

Ed Mills of Pleasanton, Cal., has bought of George J. Morgan of Los Angeles the six-year-old trotting gelding Don M., by Neerut, 2:12 1/4, first dam by Mambrino Wilkes, second dam by Black Walnut, son of Administrator, third dam of Enfield, fourth dam by Idol, etc. This fellow is a grand individual of fine size, perfect disposition, with the best of feet and legs, beautifully gaited and extremely fast.

He worked an easy mile last fall in 2:15, which was nowhere near his limit. He goes light and wears but two pairs of boots and no other rigging of any kind. He has been handled and developed by Robert Thompson, and his physical condition and manners are proof that he has been well and carefully trained. Just before leaving Los Angeles he worked a quarter in 31 seconds. Since arriving in Pleasanton he has received no fast work. Mr. Thompson believes Don M. will make a relhorses by any means, but when he loses heavily on anybody else's horse no one hears him say a word about it.

Not long after the opening of the Saratoga (N. Y.) meeting last summer one of Mr. Thomas' friends had a horse of fair class in an overnight race which the owner thought he could win. Mr. Thomas had been backing this gentleman's horses with varying success, but the horse owner was always forced to caution the young millionaire against investing too heavily on their chances, and it was his custom to tell him about what he regarded as the limit to which he should go on each race.

"I did not like to see him plunging so heavily on my horses," the friend said when telling the story, "and I would usually place the limit somewhere between $2,000 and $10,000. This time I felt very confident, and I was betting a lot of money myself for a man of my means, and so when Thomas came to me and asked me what I thought about the race I told him that as the horse was 3 to 1 or better I would not put any limit on him, he could go as far as he liked. After the race I found that Thomas had bet $150,000 on the horse, putting part of the money on for the place, but the greater part of it in the straight betting. It proved a good investment for him, too, for the horse won."

By the time the leading golf professionals of the world finished their attacks on the record score of the Sandwich (England) golf course in the recent English open championship it was bruised, battered, down and out. From 75 the figures were reduced to 73, 72, 71, 69 and finally 68. That such low figures should have been reached was as big a surprise as the winning of the British amateur championship by Walter J. Travis, the American champion.

When the tension incident to the most important event in the golfing world is considered the performances appear all the more remarkable. It can hardly be possible that during the last twelve months there has been a remarkable general advance in skill on the part of the experts. Rather would able and high class race horse capable of racing this season in 2:10.

M. E. Sturges of New York city is to retire from the turf. For a dozen years Mr. Sturges has raced his horses, at first on the mile tracks of New England and of recent years he has been a prominent figure on the grand circuit.

It was in 1902 that Mr. Sturges had out his best stable, headed by the incomparable Dan Patch, and containing Baron de Shuy, Prince Direct and Darwin. Under McHenry's able direction these horses won many races and the stable was one of the best money earners of the year.

In the fall of that year Sturges sold Dan Patch to M. W. Savage for $60,000. Last year his stable did not perform so brilliantly, but his retirement was not looked for.

Dr. Bob White a Star.
What has entertained many fans of late is the pitching of Dr. Bob White, of the Chicago Americans, who used to go to Georgetown college with Arthur Devlin. White is over six feet tall, opposed to expansion, has notably straight legs for a thin man and has some of the loveliest bends, twists, breaks and drops ever produced by a pitcher. He would be invaluable to any team.

Willie Keeler, who coached the Harvard varsity baseball men, says that Walter Clarkson, the Harvard pitcher, could hold his own in either of the big leagues. Keeler says that Clarkson "has everything" and that he possesses a remarkable supply of baseball brains of the caliber that made his brother, John Clarkson, famous.

FOUR LOST ON MUSKOGON BAY.

Children Drown in Sight of Parents;

Three Young Women Missing.
Muskegon, Mich., July 5.—Four known dead and probably three more is the record of Muskegon Lake. Miss Adelaide Emerson of Beaumont, Texas, and the three children of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kennett were drowned by the capsizing of small sailboat. The Misses Bosale and Anna Bates and Miss Grace Hancock left Sunday night in a rowboat to join a party camping at North Muskegon. Nothing has been seen of them since, although diligent search has been made.

The Kennett party was caught in a gale, the boat was overturned and Miss Adelaide Emerson was struck by the boom and sank immediately. Mr. Kennett managed to find a hold on the boat and snatched the baby, 11 months old, out of the water. Holding the child in one arm, he grasped the floating hair of his wife and Miss Georgia Emerson and kept them above water until rescued. Two of the Kennett children, aged 4 and 3, drowned before the eyes of their parents and the baby died while being brought to shore. Mrs. Kennett may not recover.

DENIES EXTRAVAGANCE CHARGE

Marconi Official Says the Allegation is Ridiculous.

New York, July 5.—Directors of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company of America, for which Henry Gardiner is asking the court to appoint a receiver, alleging that the company is insolvent as the result of wastefulness and extravagance in the management, says that Gardiner's allegations are ridiculous and preposterous.

"Why, the company owes no debt of more than $100 on open account, and there is a large surplus in bank. Its aggregate debts are of an insignificant amount for current expenses," said John Bottomly, secretary-treasurer of the company.

It was not true, he said, that either a director or an officer of the company was using for his own benefit or had access to any of the resources of the company. The management had been most conservative, and the total salaries amounted to less than one-sixth of $85,000 the amount alleged.

RABBIS HAVE DIVORCE PUZZLE

Convention Confronted with Technical Legal Problems.

New York, July 5.—The convention of Orthodox Rabbis of America and Canada resumed its discussions Monday.

Resolutions were adopted on the death of the Rev. Theodore Herzl, the founder of the Zionist movement and the president of the Zionist congress, who died in Vienna Sunday.

One of the problems before the convention is that of divorce. The uniform decision of the convention heretofore has been that neither party to a divorce may remarry even after a rabbinical divorce, or a divorce according to Jewish law, until the decree has been granted by the state courts. This requirement must be placed in the bill granted by the rabbis, whose decree of divorce cannot become operative until the state courts have similarly granted it.

Should not be exposed to the schemes of self-styled financiers. So think a great many men who, instead of leaving their insurance in bulk to their widows, have counseled with The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and adopted a course, which has eventuated in something like the plan of the late

The terms of insurance under which these policies were issued were so selected that his widow will receive at once $20,000 in cash and an annual income of $3,000 for twenty years, and if she is living at the end of that period she will receive $50,000 in cash, making the total amount received under these policies $120,000 on which the premiums paid by Mr. Waterhouse amounted to only $27,497.20. CHAPTER XV.

THE GENTLEMEN OF WEALTH.

THE situation of Harvey Irons on the hayboat was critical in the extreme; but, great as was his danger, he regarded it as nothing compared to the danger that threatened Alma. He was almost exhausted from hunger, cold and grief. The boat slowly drifted in a southern direction, making toward the eastern side of the Caspian. It drifted out of the ordinary course of navigation, and he watched in vain for a passing vessel. He watched as long as possible the course of the ameer's sloop and reasoned that it was making for the nearest Bokharan port. Night came on, with no respite of light in sight. Hour after hour he drifted, hoping almost against hope, ever thinking of Alma and of a way to help her. About midnight it seemed to him that the rocking motion of the boat had ceased; that it had become stationary. "Here is a pretty mess!" he exclaimed. "I wonder if this old hulk has run aground. The Caspian is shallow, but I did not think a boat like this could run aground in the middle of it."

An examination in the dark was not easy. Harvey slid down the pile of hay, groping about with one hand while he clung for safety with the other. He fancied he saw a faint light glimmering some distance from him, but it disappeared as suddenly as it had come. He saw the light again, a quick passing from one point to another, but showing for a moment only.

"Now, that light is not on a vessel," Harvey reasoned. "It is a lantern carried around by a person who is walking on land. If I drifted around here, certainly there cannot be water enough at that place to float any kind of vessel. I've probably drifted on the shore of some island. Is it a hospitable island, or will I be worse off in the clutches of the inhabitants than where I am? The wind may drive me off again before morning and a vessel pick me up. But would the vessel be any safer than this island? And how can I investigate without attracting attention?"

Soon there was another gleam of light such as might come through an open door from a light within. A man was standing between Harvey and the light. He seemed to be looking toward the hayboat, but soon disappeared into the same place from which came the mysterious light.

"It is an island," said Harvey. "I am now resting on a shore, and the water cannot be very deep between this and the island. I'll swim ashore and risk it."

He removed some of his clothing, made a bundle of it and slid off into the water. To his surprise he could stand on bottom. Carefully he felt his way. For a short distance the water grew more shallow. Then it got deeper, and he was forced to swim. After a short swim he again felt the ground under his feet, and he waded on to dry land. The shore was sandy.

He moved slowly and cautiously. It was difficult to locate where the light had been. He groped along, wandering in many curves. Trees were on the island, but he could see no trace of a building. After groping some time in the darkness he discovered what appeared to be a rock about five feet high. Feeling the surface of this, he found that it was not a solid rock, but a rocky formation with an opening on one side. Lying flat on the ground and peering in, he saw a light far in the earth, apparently from a lantern hung on a peg. He slowly crawled inside the cave. After advancing for several feet he found that he could stand up and walk.

A voice came from behind a shelter of the rocky wall that projected into the chamber. It pleased Harvey that it was not the voice of a Russian, for Russians were the only people he had any reason to fear.

"I have spoken," said a calm, stern voice within the concealed chamber. "I have given the treasure as it should be given."

"But, no, my brother," came a voice that seemed to Harvey to tremble with emotion. It was a harsh, cold voice, not like the other. "You have done well for yourself. You have done well for the clans in the mountains. But we have not fared as we should. Was it not our courage that made the accumulation of this booty possible?"

"Yes; that is so," answered the first speaker. "But I am Palkpak, chief of the Zannucks, and it was I who planned everything. The wealth that came from the ameer's people we were compelled to hide here until the ameer's soldiers had finished their search among our villages, and the wealth that came from the Buddhist temples, which we found the most valuable of all, and the gold that came from the pyramids of the Russian soldiers whom we attacked and robbed. All these are mine—mine! Do you understand, Domitan?"

"Yes; that is so," answered the first speaker. "But I am Palkpak, chief of the Zannucks, and it was I who planned everything. not for wealth for you, my brothers, but for the whole people. The Zannucks have been downtrodden and robbed by the ameer. He demands more tribute than we possess. He taxes us for our wives, for our cattle, and then his soldiers steal the cattle. He taxes us for our families, and the soldiers steal our children. Our boys are compelled to enter the ameer's army, and our girls—curses upon the ameer and upon you if you cannot see the justice of what I am doing. But the ameer has desisted from his search. He has some great affair now in progress. It is time we took the treasure to the mountains and distributed it among the people and then begin again to plan."

"It shall not be so! I swear it!"

"There are three of us!" growled the surly voice.

"And we are determined men!" said one who had not spoken before.

"Do you intend to defy me?" demanded the one who called himself Palkpak.

The three laughed. "We intend to— you will see what we intend."

Harvey began to catch the drift of things.

"This," he reasoned, "is what is popularly called honor among thieves. Here's a band of four who have been successful in gathering treasure by robbing everything and everybody to enrich a people kept down by that miserable wretch of an ameer. And now the only decent one, if there is such a thing as decency among them, is to be killed so that the other three can keep the treasure instead of putting it to the

"Who are you?" the robbers demanded, one originally intended. Three against one. If I can save the leader, I can no doubt enlist him in my behalf."

He crept to the wall and peered around. A strange sight met his eager gaze. On a wooden peg that had been driven into a crevice of the rocky wall hung a lantern. On the stone floor of the cavern squatted four men in a circle, and between them were many bags of gleaming jewels, bales of choicest fabrics and bags of gold.

It was not difficult to pick out Palkpak, for his watchful eyes were roving from one to the other as he remained on his guard against an attack. But the plans of the other three were already laid. It was evidently a preconcerted arrangement. The one called Domitan shouted "Now!" and the three hurried themselves upon Palkpak.

"Hold on there! Let that man alone!" shouted Harvey, rushing in.

His presence disconcerted the robbers, and they stopped fighting. Domitan, with a curse and gasping for breath, rose to his feet and seized his knife.

"Who are you?" the robbers demanded in chorus.

The four seemed ready to join against Harvey.

"My friends," he said, "permit me to say that this conduct upon my own territory, to which you were not invited, is most unseemly. I am the owner of this island, having just purchased it from the Russian government. I'll have no murder committed here."

"You! The owner of the island of Ping Sheng?"

"That's what I said! At this moment I own the island."

"It is a lie!" said Domitan. "You die on your island, then!"

He made a rush, but Palkpak intercepted him. The other two, recovering from their astonishment, joined with Domitan.

Suddenly from the outer cavern came the rush of booted feet and the clank of arms.

"Seize them all!" commanded Captain Sergius Orskoff to the force of Russian soldiers, who rushed upon the combatants and executed the order before the American and the robbers were aware of their presence.

At the moment Harvey recognized Orskoff the latter exclaimed:

"The American! I have found you at last!"

Mystery Surrounds Shooting by Village Policeman at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, O., July 5.—F. A. Chamberlain, a hardware merchant, was shot twice, by a man named Barsh, who was arrested at once, is in danger of lynching. The police department of Columbus has been asked for help to get Barsh to the jail. Barsh, who did the shooting, was the village policeman. He entered Chamberlain's store and said something to him in a low tone of voice which those present could not understand. Chamberlain ordered Barsh out of the store, but he refused to go. When Chamberlain attempted to put him out Barsh drew his revolver and shot him twice.

Those who have most happiness think the least about it. But in thinking about it and in doing their duty happiness comes—because the heart and mind are occupied with earnest thought that touches at a thousand points the beautiful and sublime realities of the universe.—Thackeray.

Evil Ways of the Clinch Bug.

The clinch bug is a disgusting little "beast" only a third of an inch long. Originally it fed upon wild grasses, but when civilized man arrived and planted wheat the cereal suited its taste exactly and it soon became what it is to-day, the worst foe of the most prized bread-producing crops.

Wedding Anniversaries.

Put this list aside for future reference: First wedding anniversary, is the cotton; second, paper; third, leather; fifth, wooden; seventh, woolen; tenth, tin; twelfth, silk and linen; fifteenth, chrysalis; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; fortieth, ruby; fiftieth, golden, and seventy-fifth, diamond.

Origin of the Cossacks.

The word Cossack is derived from a Tartar word signifying bandit, and up to 1814 the Kazak lived up to his name. The first Cossacks took boat on the Dnieper, the Volga and the Don and settled on the banks of these great rivers, living by plunder and by the proceeds of their fishing, fighting generally on foot, but always remaining near their boats, which secured them a safe retreat in case of a reverse.

Must Know Four Languages.

The young Japanese who wishes to enter the public service, a profession, or even to rank as educated, has practically to learn four languages—pure Japanese, Japanese-Chinese, epistolary Japanese, and colloquial dialect.

In the World of Baseball

Western Colleges Inaugurate a New Era by Acting Against Professionalism—Frank Pfeiffer, Illinois Star—Major League Doings.

College baseball authorities in the west and middle west have taken a step toward putting a quietus on professionalism that might well be followed by easterners. Regulations have been put in force by the westerners to the effect that no college baseball players shall attach themselves to any regular team during the summer. It has been the practice of scores of college stars to earn their vacation expenses by playing on semiprofessional organizations. The proceeding was pernicious, to say the least, and all lovers of clean sport heartily commend the action of the western dictators. Now let Yale, Harvard, Princeton, the University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Brown and other eastern universities "follow suit."

The wording of the new rule leaves practically no loopholes. It reads: "A student shall be ineligible to represent his college in athletic contests profited by playing baseball during vacations and the promoters who have profited by summer idleness.

Public opinion will support the Conference—which controls college athletics in the west and middle west—in its effort to cleanse college sport of suspicion. It was almost impossible to secure evidence of a player's professionalism under the system which has prevailed for so many years because there were so many ways to conceal it.

Instead of making amateurs the system made liars. Under the new rule college athletes must completely disguise themselves to escape detection, and, with the temptation practically removed, there will be many more honest athletes in the west.

The work of Frank Pfeiffer, the star twirler of the baseball team of the University of Illinois, has been little short of marvelous the present season, and to him is given most of the credit for Illinois again winning the championship of the Big Nine. Out of fourteen games he pitched this season he has won twelve. One of his feats was the striking out of fifteen men of the Notre Dame team and allowing only three scratch hits in a 1 to 0 game. His most notable performance of the college year was the winning of the ten inning game with Ohio State by the score of 6 to 5, the eleven inning contest with Chicago university by the score of 7 to 3 and the shutting out of the latter team on Marshall field May 28 by a score of 11 to 0.

Nothing more unusual has happened in the history or on the records of "organized baseball" since its establishment than the claim made to the national commission recently by the Brooklyn club for the sum of $1,500 from the Milwaukee club for two players, John Anderson and Dave Fultz.

CENTER FIELDER GEIER OF THE BOSTON NATIONALS. Geier is playing the fastest game of his career. He is batting close to the 300 mark too. He has a strong throwing arm and frequently sends the ball from center field to home plate.

who engages in such contests as a representative of any athletic organization not connected with his college, whether in term time or vacation, except by special written permission previously obtained of the proper athletic authorities."

The rest of the rule specifies that written permission may be granted to play an occasional game on teams which have no permanent organization and are not either professional or semiprofessional, the definition of the latter being any team a single member of which is believed to receive remunera-

now of the New York American league team. This claim of Ebbets' dates so far back that every one else had forgotten the Brooklyn club ever had any claim to the two players named, and few recall that they were ever with the Milwaukee team. The national commission naturally dismissed the claim as being so old it had no standing under the national agreement. But it is interesting to imagine what a tangle would have resulted if there had been any foundation for Ebbets' claim and he had been awarded a verdict. The Milwaukee American league club, to which Anderson and Fultz belonged, has been out of existence for several years, and the man who owned it is dead. The franchise was transferred to St. Louis in the fall of 1901. The present Milwaukee American association club is a different organization, with different owners and in a different element. Fultz went to the Philadelphia Athletics along with Manager Mack. Anderson went to St. Louis, and after over three years both find themselves on the same team again. From whom would Ebbets have collected his $1,500 in all that tangle, if he had been awarded it? The Chicago Union Traction problem would have been like adding two and two in comparison. But there is a serious side to the matter, and it is found in the apparent belief on Ebbets' part that he has only to bring any old claim before the national commission against the American league to win out. It is based on his success in keeping the American league from playing even exhibition games at Ridgewood, New York, and Ebbets is the kind of man who would attribute such victories to his own personal influence.

Roger Bresnahan, New York National, says that many people think because the Pittsburgh Pirates got a bad start they are out of it so far as the pennant is concerned. "This is a big mistake," says Roger. "The team that beats the Pittsburghs out will win the pennant, and that is the only team the Giants fear."

During a recent game between New York and Cincinnati Bill Dahlen said to Umpire Emslie, "There ought to be some way of ordering umpires off the field when their work is as rotten as yours is."

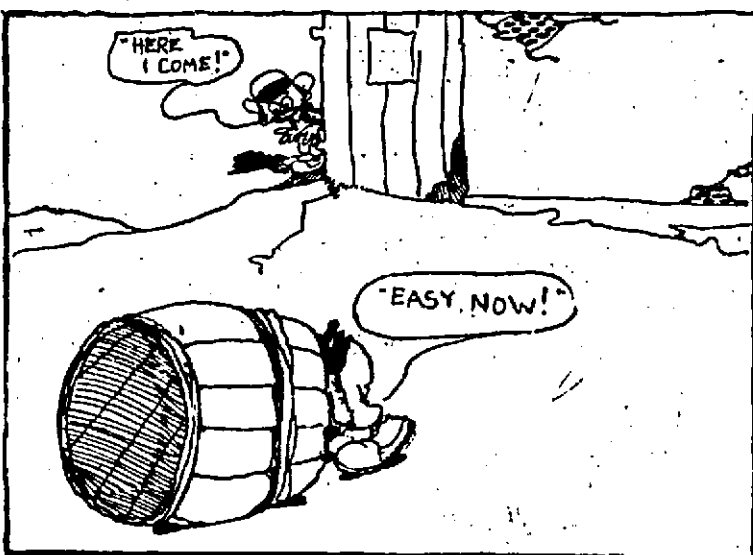

Leroy Waters of this city left today for Oshkosh to take a position with the Chicago Building Iron Co. who are erecting a water tower near that city for the Winnebago state hospital.
